Introductory Message

This Self-Learning Module (SLM) is prepared so that you, our dear learners, can continue your studies and learn while at home. Activities, questions, directions, exercises, and discussions are carefully stated for you to understand each lesson.

Each SLM is composed of different parts. Each part shall guide you step-by-step as you discover and understand the lesson prepared for you.

Pre-tests are provided to measure your prior knowledge on lessons in each SLM. This will tell you if you need to proceed on completing this module or if you need to ask your facilitator or your teacher's assistance for better understanding of the lesson. At the end of each module, you need to answer the post-test to self-check your learning. Answer keys are provided for each activity and test. We trust that you will be honest in using these.

In addition to the material in the main text, Notes to the Teachers are also provided to our facilitators and parents for strategies and reminders on how they can best help you on your home-based learning.

Please use this module with care. Do not put unnecessary marks on any part of this SLM. Use a separate sheet of paper in answering the exercises and tests. And read the instructions carefully before performing each task.

If you have any questions in using this SLM or any difficulty in answering the tasks in this module, do not hesitate to consult your teacher or facilitator.

Thank you.

Using Verbs to Express Emotional Responses

What's In

In the previous module, you learned about transition signals to achieve coherence. Refresh your knowledge about them through the following activity.

Activity: What's that Word

Choose the appropriate transition signals that best complete the paragraph below.

Therefore

For example

As a result

Unfortunately

In the same way

Mental health is the ability to work, love and play in a balanced measure. _____, if there is no balance between these things, our mind may get sick. _____, if we just keep on working and have no time for rest and relaxation, our mind may get tired. We suffer from stress. _____, we may suffer from illnesses of the mind.

The paragraph above uses transition signals to present and connect ideas about health. In this module, you will learn other words that will help present ideas, as well as feelings or emotion.

What's New

In life, we all face a lot of challenges. Sometimes, we differ on how we respond to them. However, our responses, regardless if it is positive or negative, must be expressed properly.

In this part of the module, you will do a self-reflection on how you respond to different situations given in the activity below.

Activity: I Must or I Must Not

In this time of pandemic, it is important for us to be physically and mentally healthy. Which of the following activities is/are good for your health? Write I MUST if the activity shown helps you to be healthy and write I MUST NOT if it doesn't.

Sweeping the floor

1. _____

Eating junk food

2. _____

Reading a book

3. _____

Dancing as exercise

4. _____

Illustrated by: Joy G. Torion

If you have noticed, the words must and must not are used in the activity to show your response. The word must is one of the words that you can use to express opinions in order to convince or persuade.

What is It

This part of the module will teach you different verbs that you can use to communicate your emotions or opinions to certain issues.

Read the dialogue between Noel and Nanay. Study the underlined verbs.

Nanay, I want to go outside. I already missed playing with my friends. Unfortunately, we are still under Enhanced Community Quarantine (ECQ). You better stay home. The possibility of you getting sick scares me.	What happens during ECQ, Nanay? During ECQ, the government must control the people's movement in public to stop the spread of the virus. That's why it is important for us to stay at home.
But Nanay, can you just give me 30 minutes to play outside? No, Noel, I strongly disagree. You should follow what I tell you. So, what should I do now?	I suggest you just play with your brother and sister, Jose and Nene, or you could join me pray for your Tatay's safety since he is a frontliner. Okay, Nanay. I will join your pray for Tatay. I am glad to do that for him.

Illustrated by: Anselmo S. Osoros Jr.

What types of verbs are used in the dialogue above?

The underlined words are verbs used to highlight emotions and opinions. They are classified in the next pages.

A. EMOTIONAL RESPONSE VERBS

The table below shows their function and examples.

Type of Verb	Function	Sample Verbs
		Positive	Negative	Neutral
Emotional Response Verbs	These verbs express an action or a state of emotion.	agree amuse appreciate excite interest love motivate overwhelm please thrill	annoy bore confuse deny doubt dislike disagree frustrate puzzle scare	believe feel know realize think want surprise

Sample sentences taken from the dialogue:

- You better stay home. The possibility of you getting sick scares me.
(The verb “scarefs” is used to state the unpleasant emotion towards the possibility of getting sick. Stating an emotion is a way in convincing someone.)
- No, Noel. I strongly disagree. You should follow what I tell you.
(The verb disagree states the stand of the speaker. Emphasizing a stand is a good way in influencing someone to agree with your ideas.)

A. MODAL VERBS

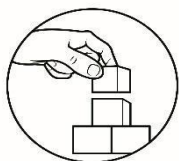

In Module 3, you have learned that modal verbs have different uses. The modals given below are verbs that express suggestion or recommendation which is an effective way to convince or persuade. To further clarify the difference of each modal, they are arranged from weakest to strongest in terms of expressing a suggestion or recommendation. Furthermore, the table shows their functions and examples.

Type of Verb	Functions	Examples
Modals
Could	It is used to give a suggestion which a person may or may not follow .	I suggest you play with your brother and sister or you could join me pray for your Tatay’s safety. (The modal could is used to give a suggestion that the person could join the speaker in praying.)
Should	It is also used to give a suggestion but more insistent than the modal could .	No, Noel. I strongly disagree. You should follow what I tell you. (The modal should is used to suggest that the person needs to follow what the speaker tells.)

Ought to	It is used to formally give an advice or a recommendation usually coming from an expert.	The Department of Health (DOH) recommends that people ought to stay at home so that they will not get sick. (The modal ought to is used to formally suggest that staying at home is important.)
Had better	It is used to give a recommendation by presenting the possible negative consequence if the advice is not followed.	During the Enhanced Community Quarantine (ECQ), you had better wear your mask in public places or the police will arrest you. (The modal had better is used since the possible negative consequence, the police will arrest you, is presented to serve as a warning.)
Must	It is used to show a strong obligation that needs to be followed.	The government must control the people's movement in public to stop the spread of the virus. (The modal must is used to express the strong obligation of the government in taking action against the spread of the virus.)

Now, you will see these types of verbs used in a persuasive paragraph. A persuasive paragraph aims to convince the readers to agree with the author's opinion about an issue or topic.

We all know that good nutrition is important, but the pandemic definitely made us realize that we must practice eating healthy at all times. As always mentioned by health professionals, we ought to eat a well-balanced diet accompanied with regular exercise. Absolutely, this is essential in maintaining physical health as well as mental health. Without this, we are completely not safe from getting the deadly virus. So, why wait for this frightening moment to happen? Start eating nutritious food and motivate others to do the same.

Lesson

Using Adjectives to Express Emotional Responses

What's In

In the previous lesson, you learned about verbs. Refresh your knowledge about them through the following activity.

Activity:

Supply the appropriate Emotional Response Verb in each of the following sentences. On a separate sheet of paper write only the letter of the correct answer.

A. could B. had better C. inspire D. must E. should

1. We _____ be thankful for waking up each day.
2. Family members _____ one another to do better.
3. Young people _____ share their problems to their parents.
4. You _____ seek advice from a guidance counselor if you are anxious.
5. Children _____ eat more vegetables and fruits if they don't want to get sick.

Aside from verbs, there are also other words that can be used to express emotions and opinions. These words will be discussed in the next pages.

What's New

In this lesson, you will do another self-check on how you react and respond to different situations through the activity below.

Activity: FEELmojis

Read each statement and indicate how you feel about them by choosing an emoticon inside the box. Draw your chosen emoticon on a separate sheet of paper.

Illustrated by: Anselmo S. Osores Jr

1. I feel sad that some people waste their time on social media.
2. Parents feel happy when they bond with their children.
3. Reading books makes me feel excited than playing mobile games.

Take note that the underlined words in the activity express emotions. They are called adjectives. You will learn more about them in this lesson.

What is It

You have learned in Lesson 1 that there are verbs that can be used to express your emotions and reactions. This time, you will learn a set of adjectives that can also help tell your emotions on a certain issue.

Describing nouns and pronouns is not the only function of an adjective. It could also be used to express varied emotional responses and reactions to an issue. To effectively convince the readers, one must know how to appropriately use adjectives that express positive and negative emotions in creating statements and paragraphs.

Below are the adjectives that are used to show positive and negative emotions.

Adjectives Expressing Positive Emotions			Adjectives Expressing Negative Emotions
Glad	Thankful	Satisfied	Sad	Resentful	Scared
Inspired	Important	Excited	Discouraged	Unsupportive	Harsh
Delighted	Objective	Strong	Insulting	Unsure	Boring
Secured	Safe	Amused	Embarrassed	Helpless	Weak
Encouraging	Active	Supportive	Regretful	Dissatisfied	Anxious
Hopeful	Better	Carefree	Insignificant	Discouraging	Worst

Take a look at how these adjectives are used in sentences to convey emotions.

1. As your friend, I will be delighted if you share your problems to me.
(In this sentence, the word delighted describes the positive feeling of the person about being able to listen to his or her friend's problems.)
2. Some teenagers are regretful that they were not able to spend time with their friends before the Enhanced Community Quarantine (ECQ).
(The word regretful emphasizes the teenagers' negative emotion on not being able to be with their friends before the ECQ.)

Notice how these adjectives are used in a paragraph.

1. As Filipinos, we love to be with our family during dinner time to share our best or worst experiences of the day. 2. However, this practice has been gradually disappearing because of technology. 3. Young people would rather use social media to express themselves for they are embarrassed to share their feelings to their parents. 4. On the other hand, parents are somehow guilty of contributing to the distance felt by their children for some of them are too busy with work such as taking office calls during meal time, checking emails, or surfing the internet. 5. Because of these, there is lesser time for families to spend together. 6. This must change. 7. We must not let technology affect the time we spend with them. 8. Doing this will create better and stronger relationships.

In the 1st sentence, the adjectives best and worst are used to describe the positive and negative circumstances that a person could experience in a day.

In the 3rd sentence, the word embarrassed is used to describe the feelings of young people towards sharing their thoughts to their parents.

In the 4th sentence, the word guilty is used to describe the feeling of parents in being too busy at work even when at home.

In the last sentence, the words better and stronger are used to motivate the reader to create a bond with their parents rather than spending time with technology.

Now, take a look at another paragraph that uses adjectives together with the verbs that you have learned in Lesson 1. These range of adjectives and verbs are commonly used in writing a persuasive paragraph.

We all know that good nutrition is important, but the pandemic definitely made us realize that we must practice eating healthy at all times. As always mentioned by health professionals, we ought to eat a well-balanced diet accompanied with regular exercise. Absolutely, this is essential in maintaining physical health as well as mental health. Without this, we are completely not safe from getting the deadly virus. So, why wait for this frightening moment to happen? Start eating nutritious food and motivate others to do the same.

What's More

Practice what you have learned about adjectives in giving your emotional responses to an issue. Read and do what is asked in each activity below.

Using Adverbs to Express Emotional Responses

What's In

You are now in the last lesson of this module but before you proceed, review what you learned about adjectives in Lesson 2 by doing the activity below.

Activity: Classifying Adverbs

Put a check mark (✓) if the statement uses an adjective that expresses a positive emotion and a cross mark (✗) if not. Write your answers on a separate sheet of paper

- 1 Following the health measures during the pandemic is really important.
- 2 It is actually disappointing to see that some failed to follow the health measures.
- 3 People are evidently delighted to be with their loved ones during the pandemic.
- 4 Having a genuine conversation with our loved ones is definitely good for our mental health.
- 5 Surely, a person with a weak immune system is prone to diseases.

Take note of the italicized words in the sentences. These words help emphasize the meaning of the sentences. They are called adverbs.

Though there are many types of adverbs, you will be learning one type that is helpful in expressing your emotional responses and reactions.

What's New

One of the shared cultures among Asian countries is filial piety which is the respect given to parents and old people. This has been reflected in the Philippine culture in which young people treat their parents and old people with respect and politeness. Such respect has also been observed during the pandemic where society takes care and protects the senior citizens.

With that, check how you react to situations where old people are involved by doing the activity below.

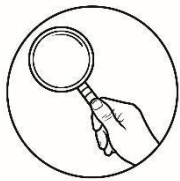

Activity: Giving Reactions

The flowchart contains scenes from the Story of the Aged Mother, a Japanese tale written by Matsuo Basho. Give your reaction to the question after each scene by choosing strongly agree, agree, disagree, or strongly disagree. Write your answer on a separate sheet of paper.

1 A poor farmer loved and respected his old mother. Do you agree that old people should be loved and respected? <input type="checkbox"/> Strongly Agree <input type="checkbox"/> Agree <input type="checkbox"/> Strongly Disagree <input type="checkbox"/> Disagree	2 However, the cruel governor of their place hated old and weak people for he found them to be useless. So, he ordered to kill them. Do you agree that old people are useless for they are old and weak? <input type="checkbox"/> Strongly Agree <input type="checkbox"/> Agree <input type="checkbox"/> Strongly Disagree <input type="checkbox"/> Disagree
4 One day, the cruel governor demanded his people to present him a rope made of ashes. 4. Do you agree that a leader can demand anything to his or her followers? <input type="checkbox"/> Strongly Agree <input type="checkbox"/> Agree <input type="checkbox"/> Strongly Disagree <input type="checkbox"/> Disagree	3 But the son refused to follow the governor's order and hid his old mother instead. 3. Do you agree with what the son did? <input type="checkbox"/> Strongly Agree <input type="checkbox"/> Agree <input type="checkbox"/> Strongly Disagree <input type="checkbox"/> Disagree
5 No one knew how to do it except the old mother for she had learned about it a long time ago. 5. Do you agree that experiences of old people can help the young ones? <input type="checkbox"/> Strongly Agree <input type="checkbox"/> Agree <input type="checkbox"/> Strongly Disagree <input type="checkbox"/> Disagree	6 Because of her wisdom and experience, the people were saved, and the governor finally realized the value of old age. 6. Do you agree that old age reflects wisdom and experience? <input type="checkbox"/> Strongly Agree <input type="checkbox"/> Agree <input type="checkbox"/> Strongly Disagree <input type="checkbox"/> Disagree

What were your reactions to the events of the story? What have you realized from the story? Why should old people be respected and protected? In your own opinion, how do you show respect and love to your parents or your guardians?

Now, take note of the word strongly in the choices. This word is an adverb that emphasizes your reactions. You will learn more examples of this type and how to use them in this lesson.

What is It

In Lesson 1 and Lesson 2, you were introduced to using a range of verbs and adjectives in expressing your emotions and opinions. This time you will learn about adverbs.

The sentences below are based on the Story of the Aged Mother. Try to compare them and take note of their differences.

1 I agree that old people must be respected and protected.

2 I strongly agree that old people must be respected and protected.

3 The farmer in the story was happy that her mother saved the people.

4 The farmer in the story was really happy that her mother saved the people.

What is the difference between sentence 1 and sentence 2? How about sentence 3 and sentence 4? Which sentences sound more convincing to you?

Notice that sentence 2 contains the words “strongly”. This word gives a higher emotional degree on the verb agree. Also, take note that sentence 4 contains the word “really”. This word emphasizes that the happiness felt by the farmer is more intense than the happiness expressed in sentence 1.

The words “strongly” and “really” are examples of adverbs. They describe verbs, adjectives, and another adverb. There are many types of adverbs but in this lesson, you will focus on adverbs that can give emphasis on your responses and reactions. They are called adverbs of opinion.

ADVERBS OF OPINION

This type of adverbs emphasizes the intensity of your stand or opinion. They help clarify your belief about a certain issue.

The following are the commonly used adverbs of opinion:

ADVERB	MEANING	ADVERB	MEANING
Fortunately	Owing to good luck or favor	Unfortunately	Unlucky or unfavored
Hopefully	Expressing desire or hope	Disappointingly	Unhappy because of failing to meet expectations
Clearly	Clear manner	Probably	likely to happen
Obviously/ Evidently	Very evident or easily seen	Surely/ Absolutely	In a sure manner or without a doubt
Strongly	Firmly grounded	Admiringly	In a way that shows respect or and approval
Truthfully/Truly	Telling the truth	Really/ Actually	In reality or emphasizing a point
Completely	Entirely or nothing is missing	Definitely	Exact or certain

Take note on how some of the adverbs above are used in the following sentences:

- 1. Clearly, the farmer in the story loved her old mother. He showed this by protecting and hiding his mother from the cruel governor.

(The adverb clearly emphasizes that the farmer's love to his old mother is very clear in the story. The adverb clearly is placed at the beginning of the sentence. This means that they can be placed at the beginning of sentences and are followed with a comma.)
- 2. Minors and senior citizens must stay at home during the pandemic. We definitely need to follow this health measure to protect them.

(The adverb definitely emphasizes the stand of the speaker that he or she is certain that the health measure must be followed. The adverb definitely is placed before the verb need. This means that they can also be placed before the main verb.)
- 3. Filipinos' sense of respect to old people is evidently shown on how they protect and care for their old family members.

(The adverb evidently emphasizes the observation of the speaker that Filipinos' sense of respect to old people is clearly seen on how they treat old family members. The adverb is placed in between the word are and doing. This means that they can be placed between an auxiliary verb and a main verb.)

Furthermore, adverbs of opinion can also be in a form of phrases. The table below shows some of the commonly used phrases that function as an adverb of opinion.

From my view	To be frank	In fact	In my opinion	Without a doubt
--------------	-------------	---------	---------------	-----------------

Take a look at how they are used in a sentence.

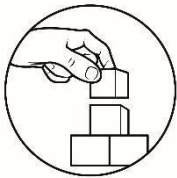

Filipinos are really respectful and polite to old people. Without a doubt, filial piety has been always part of our culture.

(The phrase without a doubt shows the firm feelings of the speaker that filial piety or respect to elders has always been a part of our culture. The phrase is placed at the beginning of the sentence. This means that they are usually placed at the beginning of a sentence and followed by a comma.)

Adverbs of opinion can also help emphasize the ideas in your paragraph especially if you want to convince readers about your opinion to an issue.

Observe how these adverbs of opinion are used together with the verbs and adjectives that you have learned in Lesson 1 and Lesson 2. Notice how the writer used them to convince the readers about the importance of eating healthy.

We all know that good nutrition is important, but the pandemic definitely made us realize that we must practice eating healthy at all times. As always mentioned by health professionals, we ought to eat a well-balanced diet accompanied with regular exercise. Absolutely, this is essential in maintaining physical health as well as mental health. Without this, we are completely not safe from getting the deadly virus so why wait for this frightening moment to happen? Start eating nutritious food and motivate others to do the same.

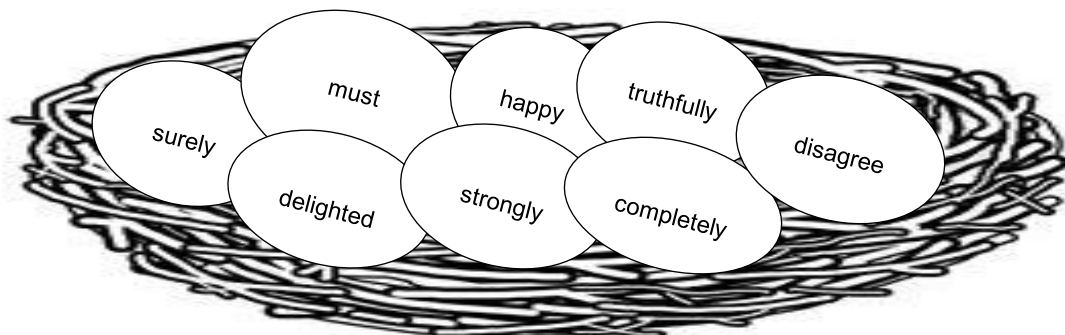

What's More

Illustrated by: Gil C. Dayot Jr.

Self-check:

- ★ Did you notice that the other words in the nest are verbs and adjectives?
- ★ Were you able to find all the adverbs of opinion in the nest of words?

Assessment 1. Identifying the Adverbs

Jose:	Nene, how are you feeling right now?
Nene:	I am very bored, Kuya. I _____ (1. really, probably) want to go outside.
Jose:	We are not allowed to go out yet, Nene. How about if we try to maximize our time by cleaning our rooms, exercising, or reading some books?
Nene:	You are right, Kuya! We could also start gardening or do some crafts.
Jose:	_____, (2. Absolutely, Actually) Nene! Let us just be glad to stay at home since this will protect us from getting and spreading the virus.

Activity 3. Adverb Search

Look for the five (5) adverbs of opinion used in the paragraph below. Write your answers on a separate sheet.

Hence, sharing ideas with other people is important. This can actually help you enrich your knowledge. Being able to objectively understand the thoughts and emotions of other people is a good way to improve yourself.

Self – Check:

- ★ Did you find all five (5) adverbs of opinion in the paragraph?
- ★ Do you agree with the writer's opinion that you need others to help you understand yourself and the world?
